Planning Your Trip

When planning your trip to California, there are a few things to keep in mind. First, the state is very large, so it's important to decide which regions you want to visit. Once you've narrowed down your choices, you can start planning your itinerary.

If you're flying into California, there are several major airports to choose from, including Los Angeles International Airport (LAX), San Francisco International Airport (SFO), and San Diego International Airport (SAN). Once you've arrived in California, you can rent a car or take public transportation to get around.

California is a great place to visit year-round, but the best time to visit is during the spring or fall, when the weather is mild. If you're visiting during the summer, be prepared for hot temperatures, especially in the inland areas.

No matter when you visit, California is sure to amaze you with its beauty and diversity. So start planning your trip today!
