- Start with a clean tablecloth. A clean tablecloth will help to create a fresh and inviting atmosphere.
- Choose the right centerpiece. The centerpiece should be proportionate to the size of the table. It should also be something that is visually appealing and that reflects the overall tone of the meal.
- Set the plates and silverware correctly. The plates should be placed in the center of each place setting, with the silverware to the right of the plate. The forks should be placed on the left side of the plate, with the knives on the right side. The spoons should be placed at the top of the plate.

- Add napkins. Napkins should be placed to the left of the forks. They can be folded in a variety of ways, such as a simple square or a more elaborate fan shape.
- Light candles. Candles can add a touch of ambiance to any table setting. They can be placed on the table, on the mantelpiece, or in the windowsill.
